

INCREASE IN PUPILS USING CO. LIBRARY

America's "new look" in high school education is posing problems for the Adams County Public Library.

Librarian Mary S. Wilson said the schools' trend toward more term papers and other essays which require research is doubling the work of the librarians as far as handling research material is concerned.

She pointed to one figure in the monthly report as indicative on high school youngsters seeking source materials for information on themes they are now being required to write in larger numbers. Last month 453 periodicals were secured from storage areas of the library as compared to 219 for the same month a year ago. Saturdays particularly bring a flood of high school students to the library. She reported the two large tables in the main ground floor room of the library and the room set aside upstairs for such use are filled with youngsters digging up facts for papers they need write for their teachers.

NEED BIGGER STAFF

Mrs. Wilson said two years ago two librarians could handle the demand, last year it moved to three and now to four during the rush hours for information.

Recent moving of such reference materials as the encyclopedias to shelves in the main room of the library where they can be secured by the students without librarian aid "has greatly helped the problem," Mrs. Wilson reported.

The question of what to do about the exterior of the library building was discussed at some length. The board had desired to sandblast the exterior and return the now painted brick to its original appearance. Property Chairman Donald Becker said Friday night that soft mortar is permitting moisture to enter the building

2 Leaders In Agreement On Weapons Ban

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan announced today they have reached "a very high level of agreement" on their appraisal of the problems faced by the two great English-speaking powers.

In a joint statement covering their three days of talks, the two leaders pledged themselves "to do their utmost" to reach agreement with the Soviet Union for a safe-guarded ban on nuclear weapons tests.

They asserted their support for the United Nations and their "determination" to oppose Soviet attempts "to undermine its authority."

NEED "SACRIFICES"

To meet the problems of the world today "will require from us many sacrifices," Kennedy and Macmillan declared.

"We are in complete agreement," they said, "as to the gravity and depth of the dangers in the present world situation for those nations who wish to retain their independence and the price-less right of choice."

"While we recognize that the core of Western security against armed aggression continues to be also discussed how our countries can help to strengthen the free world as a whole."

"We have considered what measures it might be advisable to take, together with our allies, to insure the cohesion, effectiveness and adaptability of the Atlantic community in a changing world."

"UNITY OF EUROPE"

The statement described as urgent the need for further steps toward "the economic and political unity of Europe."

But on this as on other points it dealt only in generalities and offered no indication of specific measures, of actions agreed on or of proposals which may be made to allies or the Communist powers as a result of the meetings here.

Of the critical problems of Southeast Asia, where Soviet-backed and American-backed forces have been fighting in Laos and to some degree in Viet Nam, Kennedy and Macmillan said only that they had given close attention to the problems of the area.

Of the broad range of problems involved in relations with the Soviet Union they simply said they had agreed on "the importance and the difficulty" of developing satisfactory relations with Russia.

HAUPT'S LIFE IS TOPIC FOR DAR MEETING

Herman Haupt, resident of Gettysburg for many years, professor of engineering at Gettysburg College and a Civil War general, was the topic for a talk by William C. Darrah, of the college faculty, before the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at their regular meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clarence Smith, Lincolnway West.

"Haupt was born in 1817 in Philadelphia, of German parentage," Darrah said. "At the age of 13 he was appointed to West Point and he graduated at 18. Three months after graduation, he resigned his commission and when he was barely 19 Thaddeus Stevens picked him to survey the 'Tapeworm' railroad. Due to political conniving in 1837, the railroad came to naught. In 1838, he married 17-year-old Ann Cecelia Keller and built her a mansion on W. Middle St., which stands today.

"With a wife to support, he opened a school for girls, and entered with enthusiasm upon being a citizen of Adams County. After an unsuccessful girls' school, he organized a school for boys, which within a few years merged with the college and he went back to education of girls."

The speaker read a list of names of the first girls attending his school. In 1847 he was offered the position of general manager of the railroad to Pittsburgh. He built many railroad bridges, including the Allegheny Tunnel.

HIS GREAT MISTAKE

The building of the Hoosic Tunnel was his greatest mistake. After he put $800,000 into it, everything he owned and going into debt, it was decided that should not be finished and he lost everything. Before his death he paid back all but $35,000 of the $800,000 he had invested.

He died on a train from Jersey City to Washington, D. C., a great general and engineer. To many, he was a great deal more. In 1839

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)—A supersonic jet fighter, making a simulated attack during a training mission, accidentally fired a deadly Sidewinder air-to-air missile Friday which homed in accurately on a B52 global bomber.

The bomber plumed to destruction in rugged mountain terrain in west central New Mexico. Three of the eight crew members were known to have parachuted to safety. Rescue workers reached the wreckage hours later and reported there were some bodies at the scene.

PRACTICED ATTACKS

Van Scyoc had been making practice attack passes on the heavy bomber at about 35,000 feet when, on the sixth pass a Sidewinder missile was fired. The deadly missile was drawn by the heat of the bomber's engines and scored a direct hit.

Singleton, 27, of Havre de Grace, Md., all were flown to Sandia Base Hospital in Albuquerque for treatment of various injuries.

New Dorm At College Named 'John S. Rice Hall' For New Ambassador To Netherlands

John S. Rice, chairman of the board of trustees of Gettysburg College who on Friday in Washington took his oath as U. S. ambassador to the Netherlands, was signally honored Friday evening at a dinner tendered him by the college board in the campus dining hall.

He was presented with the Alumni Service Award, usually conferred at commencement time, and Gen. Willard S. Paul, college president, presented Ambassador Rice with a key to Dormitory B on the campus named the "John S. Rice Hall" in his honor.

An enlarged color photo of the dormitory, "Rice Hall," will be made and forwarded to Ambassador Rice at The Hague.

Flags of the Netherlands, windmills and tulips were used for table decorations at the affair given by the college board of trustees with faculty and administration members among the more than 200 in attendance.

LAUDED BY APPLE

John A. Apple, Sunbury, former president of the Alumni Association and now chairman of the executive committee of the board, was toastmaster. In a tribute to Rice he pointed to his life as "certainly one that young men can emulate" and reviewed Rice's business and political achievements. "He has brought honor to himself, his college and his state and is an outstanding example of what a man of integrity and ability can attain in America," He also paid tribute to Mrs. Rice.

Presentation of the alumni service award was made by Lavern Brenneman, York, president of the Alumni Association. With the award went a citation "for notable service to the college."

President Paul read a complimentary letter from Henry Endress, director of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement of the United Lutheran Church in America.

PALMER TIED WITH PLAYER IN MASTERS

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The Palmer Method was challenged today by a jaunty South African who writes his own golf ticket as the silver anniversary Masters Tourney sped into its third round — a virtual two-man show.

The deadlocked leaders—Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, and Gary Player, the PGA top money winner from Johannesburg—carried a four-stroke lead over 36 other pros and three amateurs into 18-hole semifinal.

The tied pacemakers reached the halfway mark of the 72-hole medal play classic with 137s, seven under par.

Player was the only shooter on Augusta National's sunny, scenic acres Friday who refused to concede that Palmer is a gold-plated cinder with win second straight Masters and his third in four years.

Player sniped the par 72, 6,900-yard course for five birdies in a 35-33—68 round. That put the pressure on first-round leader Palmer who shot a 69.

The yips apparently hit bespectacled Bob Rosburg, who matched Palmer's 68 Thursday but wavered to a 73 and a third place grading of 141 at 36 holes.

A stroke behind Rosburg was Don January, who rallied for the only other 68 second-round score and moved into fourth spot with 42, two under par for the distance.

After that, it was a cavalry charge in the quest for the winner's purse which could exceed Palmer's $17,500 swag last year since the base $20,000 over-all purse—$5,000 to the champ—is fattened by total receipts for the four-day meet.

Knotted at 143, six strokes back of Palmer and Player, were seven players—pros Byron Nelson, 49, a two-time Masters champion, Ken Venturi, Lionel Hebert, Tommy Bolt, Ted Kroll, and Walter Burkemo, and the top amateur, Charley Cox—twice U.S. amateur champion.

Only one contender was notched at even par 144, slender Paul Harney, while bracketed at 145 were five players — former U.S. Open champions Lew Worsham and Jack Fleck, Gene Littler, and the other two surviving amateurs, Jack Nicklaus and Bob Gardner.

Packed between 146 and 149—cutoff point for the final 36 holes—were 24 players, among them three-time Masters champion Sammy Snead and two-time winner Ben Hogan, each at 147.

Among those who fell by the wayside were seven former Masters champions, including 1955 winner and 1956 U.S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff; three-time Masters king Jimmy Demaret; and Horton Smith, the 1934 inaugural winner and also 1936 champ.

CAROLINE K. ATTRACTS LENS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy's run as an attraction for picture-snapping tourists may be as spectacular and brief as cherry blossoms.

Caroline, the President's 3-year-old daughter, had a romp with four playmates on the White House lawn Friday. It was the first time she had been observed at play there, and instantly she became a tourist attraction.

A sightseeing bus braked outside the iron picket fence and the tourists piled out to watch and to take pictures.

The news photographers also had a field day as Caroline, her Welsh terrier "Charlie" and her pals swung on a new jungle gym and played in a sandbox on the south lawn.

The tourists—and the news photographers—who were lucky enough to get pictures may have collectors items.

The White House, through press secretary Pierre Salinger, later asked news photographers not to snap any more pictures through the fence of Caroline at play.

Her playmate, he said, is her private affair.

MISS FLYNN

MATRON OF HONOR

The matron of honor, Mrs. Betty Smith, McSherrystown, wore a ballerina-length gown of lavender organdy, fashioned with a satin sash and an Italian neckline ending in a V in the back. She carried a colonial bouquet centered with pink rosebuds, surrounded by carnations, Mrs. Marlene Flynn, Hanover, bridesmaid, wore a ballerina-length dress of embroidered lavender nylon with an Italian neckline ending in a V in the back. She carried a bouquet identical to that of the matron of the honor. Both attendants wore white accessories. Miss Pamela Miller, McSherrystown, and Miss Deborah Smith, both of McSherrystown, were the flower girls, wore white nylon and organdy party dresses, with matching white accessories. They carried miniature colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds and carnations.

The best man was James Smith, McSherrystown. The ushers were James Flynn, Littlestown, and Melvin Flynn, Hanover. The ring-bearer, David Miller, McSherrystown, wore a gray worsted suit with black shoes.

A reception was held at the McSherrystown fire hall, followed by a honeymoon in the South. For her traveling outfit, the bride chose a robin's egg blue suit and matching accessories. The couple will reside at 18 S. Fifth St., McSherrystown.

The bride is a graduate of Littlestown High School, class of 1960. The groom is a 1957 graduate of Delone Catholic High School and is employed by Sardon Enterprises.

BONN (AP)—The Western European Union will permit West Germany to build larger warships, a government spokesman predicted today. He declined to say what types of ships will be constructed.

Informants said, however, Bonn has requested permission to build eight destroyers of up to 6,000 tons each and capable of launching rockets that could carry conventional and nuclear warheads.

The WEU, in a 1954 treaty designed to prevent runaway German rearmament, restricted the Western Germany navy to ships of 3,000 tons or less.

now and, since sandblasting will cost about $3,500 and thus cannot be done for some time until the money is collected, suggested that the structure be painted now.

LIBRARY BILL WON'T HELP

Becker said he estimated repainting the structure, with necessary repointing where mortar is bad, would cost about $1,300. Such an amount, he said is available through the Friends of the Library. Final decision was for Becker to check the cost of having the front sandblasted and the sides painted as a possible solution within range of funds available. The board had considered sandblasting as desirable both from an aesthetic standpoint and from savings over a period of years since paint has to be renewed "about every 10 years."

The Library Services bill which recently passed the assembly at Harrisburg and is scheduled to come before the Senate next week was discussed at some length. It was found the bill will not provide the Adams County Library with any more state funds that it receives at present due to the increased population of the county. If the county had remained seventh class it would receive about $2,000 a year more from the state under the new bill. Since the county this year moves to sixth class, the amount the local library will receive if the bill passes is about the same as it gets now.

TO DO LANDSCAPING

Becker reported that shrubbery to be secured for the front of the library and he anticipates that the landscaping will be completed at little or no cost to the library. The Junior Chamber of Commerce is considering paying part or all of the bill, he said, and will make final decision April 27.

Library President Thomas Pyle announced the following committees: Property, Donald H. Becker and Attorney Donald G. Oyler, co-chairmen, Dr. John D. Anderson, Mrs. Robert C. Lott, Rev. Amos D. Meyers, Mrs. Leon Roos and Allen S. Stauffer; finance, Mr. Stauffer, chairman, Roy H. Hammond, Dr. Frank N. Hewetson, Clarence P. Keefe, Clark S. Smith and Paul Wagner; public relations, Mrs. Raymond Hale, Donald B. Hudson, Mr. Keefe and Attorney Oyler.

CIRCULATION UP

The financial report showed income of $4,096.71 during the month of which $2,000 was a donation by the county, $500 a gift from C. H. Musselman Co., $1,150 donations by school districts and $281.30 capital receipts from the Friends of the Library to pay for the new shelving and other changes permitting the placing of reference material where students can obtain it themselves.

as deck passengers." The ship captain, C. Elson, was among the survivors, officials said. Elson and 18 other officers aboard the Dara are European.

At last report, the Dara was still afloat and Elson was preparing to reboard her.

WEATHER WAS BAD

A company spokesman said: "The picture is still confused, but it now appears that the Dara was in collision last night with a ship which dragged its anchor in Dubai. The weather was very bad and the Dara put to sea intending to return to Dubai today. Merchants and others from Dubai were still aboard, being unable to leave due to the heavy seas."

"Exactly what happened then is obscure, and we are still uncertain whether the figure of 550 aboard includes the 130 crew members or not."

Dubai is a small port on the Trucial coast, south of Sharja.

Three hundred survivors will be landed at Dubai the company spokesman said, and another 150 are reported aboard the tanker British Energy en route to Bahrain.

The storm the Dara encountered was the worst to hit the Persian Gulf in years. Giant hailstones smashed windows in some ships.

British Admiralty officials said at least three royal frigates were conducting maneuvers in the area near the Dara and had been ordered to help in the rescue work.

First reports reaching Bahrain said the Dara had been unable to get its lifeboats away, but this was unconfirmed.

Bahrain is a small British-administered island. The Trucial coast gets its name from the treaties various Arab tribes of Oman have signed with the British since 1820.

Gettysburg Schools Report

A Comparative Study of Increased Enrollment and Increased Costs For Our School District

A few weeks ago, the cost of living index again inched a few tenths of a per cent upward.

Since the 40's our citizens have become aware of the slow, but steady rise in costs for goods and services. The costs of public education have also risen, mainly because of enrollment increases, which necessitate more space, the replacement of older buildings, increased costs of material and supplies and improved instructional costs.

During the last ten years—from 1950-51 to 1960-61, a few local statistics concerning enrollment, increased services, increased staff and increased costs, clearly show the growth and expandability of our district.

Even though we do not consider Gettysburg to be a community that has grown by leaps and bounds, still it is highly important to note that during the years 1950-1960, the school population has increased 73 per cent from approximately 1,500 students to 2,600 students. This steady increase of about seven per cent a year is expected to continue.

STAFF UP 125 PCT.

The increase of students going to this district and an expanded curriculum has necessitated a professional staff increase of 125 per cent, from 56 professional employees in 1950 to 126 professional employees in 1960. The administration has wisely broadened the various instructional offerings of this district to keep pace with the changing times and the needs of the school community.

The increased costs for providing schooling for the 73 per cent increase of students is further shown by the budget payments for textbooks—in 1960 there was an increase by 2.5 times the money spent for textbooks over 1950; $13,300 or $5.30 per student versus $5,000 or $3.33 per student in 1950.

Teacher salaries for this district, new staff and salary increases, have increased in the budget 2.8 times, from $191,000 to $549,000.

New construction and renovation costs have added fiscal problems to the district in the form of bond issues. The high school auditorium addition cost $825,000; the shops and cafeteria addition cost $210,000; the Keefe Elementary School cost $750,000; the Eisenhower Elementary School cost $715,000 and the Meade School renovation cost $100,000.

Since 1952-1953, the total assets of our school district have increased nearly six times. Total assets in 1952 were $492,000 and as of 1960 the total assets of the

Arthur Muller, the plant's superintendent, led the CHM group on the tour. They told the CHM group the Carlisle plant was founded in 1942 as Reeves Sound Laboratories in New York City. During World War II the plant was the second largest manufacturer of crystals for radio communications in the world. Hazard Reeves, founder of the company, which recently won an "Oscar" from the movie industry for his development of a stereo type sound system, sold the Reeves Sound Laboratories to Claude Neon, Inc., in 1945—the firm promoting the patents of the inventor of neon lighting. Reeves moved to Carlisle in 1945 and a year later became Reeves-Hoffman. Fractional horsepower motors were added in 1954 and network assembly in 1958. The Carlisle plant has 335 employees. Its parent corporation has six plants, five in the U.S. and one in England.

The tour to Carlisle was arranged for CHM Club by Charles Trump, E. K. Albright, Paul Shaffer and Charles Kingston. New club members introduced at the business meeting held as part of the tour were Fred Henkel and Chester Puffenburger, of the Inwood plant, and Terry Hutton, of the sales division.

If there is a financial trend to observe and to note, it certainly is that education costs will continue to rise in a growing America. Ten years from now public elementary and secondary schools will be costing two-thirds as much as national defense is costing us now. In another decade, these schools will be requiring as much revenue as all state and local services, including education, cost in 1959. Federal assistance to the schools seems imminent and vital to the welfare of this nation.

TEN YEARS AGO

2-State Radio Group Elects New Officers: Edward Darling, general manager of radio stations WGNR, Bloomsburg, was elected president of the Pennsylvania-Delaware Associated Press Radio Association at the annual meeting of the organization held here Saturday.

John Foster, of WJAC, Johnstown, and William Banks, of WHAT, Philadelphia, were named vice presidents. Joseph Snyder, Philadelphia, bureau chief of the Associated Press, was renamed secretary.

Most of the afternoon session at the YWCA was devoted to discussion of news coverage by the Associated Press for radio, suggestions as to various types of information sought by the stations from the AP and the type of writing needed to provide more complete radio coverage.

Chinese Open Floodgates Of 275-Foot Hwache Dam Onto Allies Driving Against Reds: Chinese Communists opened the floodgates of the massive Hwache reservoir dam in central Korea today and sent thousands of tons of water rushing down on Allied-held ground.

But the Pukhan river rose no more than four and one-half feet. By Monday night the water level was receding and there was no danger to United Nations forces.

Nearly all allied elements had moved above the expected high water mark.

Make Plans For 3 Day Camps Of Co. Girl Scouts: At a recent meeting of the Adams County Girl Scout Camp committee in the Girl Scout office additional plans were made for the three day camps to be held at Camp Adams from June 11-13; Camp Little, June 18-22; and Camp South Mountain June 25-29 inclusive.

Lions To Open Show Tonight: The Gettysburg Lions Club's musical and minstrel show, "Now and Then," will begin its three-day run at the Gettysburg high school auditorium this evening at 8:15 o'clock with doors to open at 7:30 o'clock.

Both reserved and general admission seats are yet available for all three nights of the performance. Donald A. Ulrich, show manager, said at noon today Ulrich and others who have seen the charity benefit show have described it as the "best yet" in the club's series of annual home-talent shows.

To Write Yarn About Mrs. Ike: Mrs. John Erskine, wife of the well known author of a number of best sellers of the past quarter century, and a writer in her own right under her maiden name of Helen Worden, was in Gettysburg today to gather information she will use in an article for Coronet magazine on Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The latter's husband, General Eisenhower, was in command of Camp Colt here during World War I. The Erskines and the Eisenhowers are personal friends. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine returned to this country recently from Europe, where they stayed at the Trianon Palace in Versailles, General Eisenhower's World War II headquarters, and where Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower are now staying.

Rev. P. L. Reaser Receives Call To York Church: Union Lutheran Congregation, York, which has been without a pastor since November 15, yesterday voted to extend a call to Rev. Paul L. Reaser, now of Washington, D. C.

The vote was taken at a congregational meeting of 275 members following the morning worship at which Rev. Reaser preached a trial sermon. William King, president of the church council, was in charge. If he accepts, Rev. Reaser will

Today's Talk

BEFORE ONE KNOWS
There is one thing that never stops—even for the fraction of a second—and that is time. On and on it goes.

Before one knows, hours, days—years have gone by. But there must be no reason for regret or worry. The thought that this minute, this hour, this day shall never come to us again should spur us to renewed effort to make it mean something—to make it count for something in its relation to the minutes, days and years yet to come.

To one in dead earnest time is only a medium of cooperation into which are to be melted one's best efforts. But before one knows, even the most important tasks have given away to time, and left us with so much undone—unattempted!

Plan to get the fullest possible happiness out of what you do right now. Then keep thinking ahead—picturing the thrills that are sure to come with the things to do that follow your present efforts.

Few great workers ever accomplish but a fraction of what they most desire. But the fact that they are continually planning far, far into the future is evidence of their present worth and sincerity.

Always have something important to do—even though it may be no more than to think happy thoughts. We little dream of the lives that are enriched by just this.

But take time to be kind, to live, to learn and to love. Because before one knows, the chance for all of these may be gone forever.

Just Folks

THE KICKER

Let the poets affecting cheerful philosophy
Tell you a smile in the verses they write
If the weapon to use; though it may appear cross of me,
Give me the fellow who's ready to fight.

The kicker who kicks when he has a kick coming,
Call him a grouch, if you will, but I swear
He's the man who keeps things in this world ever humming;
He's a man through and through, and you bet he gets there.

I don't mean the fellow who's sour and dyspeptic,
The trowner who growls at whatever befalls;
The kill-joy or gloomy old grim-visaged skeptic;
Their kicking is chronic and fearfully pallid.

But give me the man who gets up in the morning
Determined to do what is decent and right,
Who wants to succeed without smirking or fawning;
Yes, I'm for the man who will put up a fight.

A grouch is a tonic that clears up the system;
It's good for the world and it's good for a man.

Too long have we wailed at 'em, jeered 'em and hissed 'em,
Our grouches who fight for the grouch that they plan.

Away with the fellow who smiles when he's failing,
And give me the grouch who will battle for right.

Yes, he is the man I am welcoming, hailing,
The man who is ready, if need be, to fight.

Every Year Many College Boys Seek Warm Sands Of Florida, Cold Beer, Girls

Editor's Note: When college students swarmed Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beaches during Easter vacation their antics were front-page copy for several days. Associated Press staff writer Ben Funk delves into the reasons behind the annual migration in a story reporting the views of students, city fathers and observers.

By BEN FUNK
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Every few years, millions of little animals called lemmings leave the mountains of Scandinavia and rush toward the sea. When they reach it, they leap in to their deaths.

This is one of the curiosities of nature, never satisfactorily explained.

In the United States, there is a similar phenomenon. Every single year, at Easter vacation time, thousands of college students leave the campuses and rush toward the sea. When they reach it, however, they shun the water as though it were radioactive.

LIKE SAND, BEER
All they want is a strip of brown sand along Atlantic Blvd. in Fort Lauderdale—and sand to sit on, warm girls beside them and cold beers in their hands.

REACT RESTLESSLY
Take away the sand and they react restlessly.

Take away the girls, too, and they'll shake the town with mob demonstrations like those on the nights of last March 26 and 27.

"We want to drink beer on the beach," explained a big blond youth from Ohio State. "The law tells us we can't. We can only drink in the bars."

"We want to have bonfire parties on the beach at night, but they close it at dark."

"We want girls. They're not illegal, just unavailable. This year there must be ten boys to one girl. Man, that's rough."

On Sunday night, March 26, he said, "about 10,000 of us are standing around with our hands in our pockets. With the beach closed, we've got nothing to do."

CLOSE OFF BEACH
"We used to go to Jade Beach at night. That's outside the city. But the sheriff closed that off this year. So there's nothing to do but drink beer, and the bars are so packed you can't get in."

"We're bored, real bored. There's a mob on one side of the street and another on the other side. All of a sudden—I don't know why—everybody just decided to push out into the boulevard."

"Traffic got all snarled up and a lot of cops rushed in but there wasn't any trouble. Monday night, though, the thing got out of hand."

The throng was bigger Monday night. Again, the mob surged into the boulevard. Several policemen were hit by flying beer cans and another was slugged. Six college boys were injured in the melee and scores were herded into jail.

Police brought the crowds under control before serious harm was done. But it had been a potentially dangerous situation.

In the nights that followed, worried city officials roped off a section of Atlantic Blvd. for street dances. Drinking was prohibited at the dances. The students showed no great enthusiasm, but the dances thinned out the throngs on the sidewalks.

DOESN'T HAVE ANSWER
"I haven't got the answer," says George W. Gill Jr., Chamber of Commerce president. "They don't want organized entertainment. They just don't want to leave that beach."

They started coming down in the '30s, pale-faced and winter-weary, from Yale and Princeton and Notre Dame and Michigan State and many other colleges in the East, Midwest and South. The reason they all picked the single, six-block long strip of beach isn't clear.

"We found out the hard way," adds Forrest Crane, city publicity director. "That it's impossible to get them off the sand."

"We had a big jazz festival in the auditorium downtown and they couldn't have cared less. They've got jazz on the campus. They came here to spend the days—and the nights—on the beach."

FAVOR LIGHTED BEACHES
The president of the Fort Lauderdale Ministerial Association, Rev. C. G. McClure, is one who favors opening the beaches at night—supervised and well-lighted.

"If a boy or girl comes here for sex or a drunken brawl, nothing else will do except dark Jade Beach," he said. "Given a lighted beach, most of them will be satisfied."

Dr. Granville C. Fisher, psychology professor at the University of Miami, entertained 40 of the visiting collegians in his home and he sees no mystery in their longing for the beach—or their inclination to rebel against police restrictions.

"Roughing it on the beach under the moon and the palm trees is a satisfying thing," he said. "They don't mean to raise hell," he added. "The demonstrations were just their declaration of independence."

Mayor Edward H. Johns agrees that "I don't think we can criticize the kids. A lot of people forget they were young once."

CONVICT CASTRO AIDE OF MURDER

NEW YORK (AP)—Francisco (The Hook) Molina has been convicted of second-degree murder in the fatal shooting of a girl during a restaurant brawl involving pro and anti-Castro groups.

A general sessions court jury returned its verdict Friday night after a second night of deliberation.

Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer set May 26 for sentencing.

Molina was arrested in the death last Sept. 21 of Magdalena Urdaneta, 9, a Venezuelan, who was lunching in a West Side restaurant with her parents when the Cuban factions clashed.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro was in New York at the time for the United Nations meeting.

Witnesses testified that Molina, wearing a pro-Castro beret pin, fired the fatal shot, which was intended for one of the anti-Castro group.

Kills Daughter; Enters Monastery

VINA, Calif. (AP)—Russell Tongay has entered a Trappist monastery in Vina "as a guest" to spend two weeks planning what to do with the rest of his life.

Tongay was released from Florida State Prison March 31 after serving six years of a ten-year manslaughter sentence for the death of his daughter Kathy, 5.

In prison Tongay indicated he wanted to join the Trappist order, but a spokesman for this remote Northern California monastery said Tongay "will not be entering our community here or any other community of our order."

A former swimming instructor, Tongay had travelled coast to coast with his two children whom he billed as the "Aquafots."

Kathy died in 1953 after Tongay forced her to make a 33-foot high dive.

300,000 ARE EXPECTED AT NINE OPENERS

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Some 300,000 baseball fans are expected to attend the nine openers when the major leagues open their 1961 season next week.

Washington gets the traditional jump on the other clubs with a special inaugural at the nation's capital Monday. The opposition will be the Chicago White Sox and a sellout crowd of 27,419 is expected to watch President Kennedy throw out the first ball before right-hander Dick Donovan of the new Senators opposes Early Wynn, the White Sox veteran.

All other teams, including the new Los Angeles Angels, get underway Tuesday. The largest crowd probably will be in Los Angeles where the Dodgers will play the Philadelphia Phillies under the lights before approximately 50,000.

The schedule, attendance and probable pitchers for Tuesday's games follow:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis at Milwaukee, 40,000, Brogli vs. Spahn.

Chicago at Cincinnati, 32,000, Hobbie vs. Purkey.

Pittsburgh at San Francisco, 42,000, Friend vs. Jones.

Philadelphia at Los Angeles, 50,000, Roberts vs. Drysdale.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Minnesota at New York, 20,000, Ramos vs. Ford.

Los Angeles at Baltimore, 45,000, Garver vs. Pappas.

Kansas City at Boston, 20,000, Herbert vs. Monbouquette.

Cleveland at Detroit, 40,000, Perry vs. Bunning.

(Only games scheduled)
For the first time, the American League will deviate from its eight-team setup. The addition of two clubs—Los Angeles and Washington, with the original Senators switching to Minnesota, has resulted in an increase in the playing schedule from 154 to 162 games.

The National League, which fielded 12 teams in the 1892-1899 era, will expand to 10 teams in 1962.

PHILLIES HAND PIRATES THIRD STRAIGHT LOSS

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates tangled with the Philadelphia Phillies again today, hoping to snap a three-game losing skid in exhibition play.

The Phils handed the Bucs their third straight loss Friday by bombing southpaw Harvey Haddix for six runs in the sixth inning and whipping the world champs 7-4 at Wichita, Kan.

Highlighting the big sixth was a two-run homer by third baseman Bobby Malkmus.

Tony Taylor opened the frame with a one-base hit. A single by Johnny Callison and a walk filled the bases. Tony Gozales drove in one run with a single and Pancho Herrera drove in two more with another one-base hit. A fielder's choice and Malkmus' blast accounted for the other Philly runs in that inning.

STUART HOMERS
Dick Stuart belted a two-run homer off Philadelphia starter Robin Roberts in the first inning to get the Pirates off to a 2-0 lead. Up till that time, Roberts had hurled 24 straight scoreless innings in Grapefruit League play this spring.

Don Hoak, playing for the first time since he hurt his ankle on March 30, socked a solo homer for the Pirates in the second.

Dallas Green, who relieved Roberts at the start of the fifth inning, gave up only one hit and retired the last 13 batters to face him in notching the victory.

Pittsburgh starter Bob Friend hurled the first four innings and gave up one run on four hits.

The Pirates hold a 3-2 edge over the Phils so far in spring training games this year.

DELONE TRIPS BERMUDIAN IN OPENER, 4-2

Delone Catholic High got off to a good start in its baseball season by defeating Bermudian Springs 4-2 at York Springs on Friday.

The Squires packed all of their scoring into the second inning on singles by Bill Timmins, Jim Liversberger, a walk to Jim Klunk, a single by Fred Murren, a fielder's choice and pair of outs.

Fertilizing Landscape Shrubs Is Called Important By Zettle

FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Agent

Fertilizing landscape shrubs may be one of the most important items on your list of garden chores this year. Here are a few pointers to make the job easier.

Are you confused by the number of different brands of fertilizer material available? Most deciduous shrubs need an application of fertilizer with an analysis of 10-6-4, 6-10-4, 5-10-10 at the rate of 2 to 4 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. Apply this in late winter or early spring before growth starts.

The same treatment can be given to narrow leaf and broadleaf evergreens. Broadleaf evergreens also need a certain amount of organic nitrogen carrier in the fertilizer. These plants have very shallow root systems and require a slowly available supply of nitrogen.

WATER THOROUGHLY

When applying fertilizers to all kinds of evergreens water thoroughly to be sure the fertilizer is not in concentrated form around the root systems.

Fertilizer can be applied twice during the growing season. With broadleaf evergreens, apply half the fertilizer before flowering and half after flowering.

Safe handling of insecticides in the household, on the farm, and in the garden is essential. Follow these simple precautions:

1. Take extra precautions in handling and using all insecticides, such as DDT, chlordane, dieldrin, and all other chlorinated compounds, arsenicals, fluorine compounds, and nicotine compounds. The phosphates are considered more hazardous than most other insecticides. Therefore, take extra care when using materials such as demeton, parathion, etc.

HARMFUL TO EYES

2. When mixing or applying insecticides, take extreme care to keep ingredients out of mouth and eyes.

3. Keep the body well covered. Do not spray or dust with legs or arms and shoulders bared.

4. Wash face and hands or exposed skin thoroughly, after using any insecticide.

5. Frequently wash clothing used while spraying to avoid accumulation of residues.

6. Do not contaminate streams or ponds with insecticide sprays or dusts.

7. Do not leave open containers in which insecticides are being mixed, nor set aside batches of prepared materials, where domestic farm animals can drink or lick them in passing.

BURN EMPTY BAGS

8. Burn empty insecticide bags or containers in the open air.

9. Follow the directions of the manufacturer as to time of discontinuing application before harvesting crops in order to prevent any residue.

10. Do not keep any household insecticides where foods are stored and be sure that all are distinctly labeled.

11. In the use of fumigants, use only when familiar with their poisonous nature and with methods of application. Otherwise, employ an experienced operator to use fumigants.

PASTURE CONSERVES MASH

Growth is a very rapid process in young chicks. A two week old chick on a normal diet will weigh four times as much as it did when one day old. Within the first six weeks of life it doubles its weight 3 to 4 times at approximately two-week intervals. It will weigh about 18 times as much at six weeks as it did when one day old. Thereafter growth is less rapid. Almost four weeks elapse before the weight at six weeks is doubled. Then another ten weeks elapse before this ten-week weight is doubled.

The growing chicken needs greater quantities of the growth-promoting feed stuffs during these periods of extremely rapid growth than at a later stage. Moreover, it makes more efficient use of these expensive feeds during the period of most rapid growth. That is why the protein and vitamin content of mash starting feeds must be greater during the first 6, 8 or 12 weeks of the growing period than later on. It explains why chickens can consume greater quantities of grain in proportion to mash after twelve weeks of age. Costs can be lowered after 12 weeks of age because less of these expensive ingredients are needed.

When chickens get out on lush pasture of fender, nourishing grass and legumes, much of the growth promoting feedstuffs provided by the mash alone to chicks grown in confinement can be conserved. Grain consumption can be heavier at an early age and two to three times or more in proportion to mash after 12 weeks of age.

GRANDMOTHER TO RIDE ACROSS U. S. ON HORSE

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—"Ever get a feeling you've just got to do something?" the tiny blonde Irish grandmother asks earnestly. "Well, this trip is like that."

And so this morning, an hour before dawn, Nora Jo O'Brien of Hollis, Long Island, started on a 75-day ride across the country mounted on her black thoroughbred, Ebony.

Her objective: To call attention to abuse of horses (especially when they're underfed, ridden with saddle sores, tranquilized in the show ring, and incidentally, to get in some kind words about youngsters.

Besides faith, she's taking $30. "I'm lucky if it's that much. But at every stop they're provided for. I'm not a beggar, I'm a traveler. People all along the way—saddle clubs, chambers of commerce, mayors, hotels, motels, families—have offered hospitality. I believe everyone has a little of the pioneer spirit in them."

HUSBAND DOESN'T APPROVE

Except maybe her husband. "He says, 'Just leave me out of it.' He doesn't approve and he thinks I'm crazy to try it. But he's actually a fine person," says Jo.

Last January she started writing chambers of commerce and highway departments in a dozen states for help in planning her itinerary to bypass the big cities.

When the trail ends at Mill Valley, Calif., Jo hasn't the faintest idea how she'll get Ebony back East. "But I just feel people will help," she says.

FEMININE CONCERN

The 5-foot, 109-pound 40ish mother of two children does have one worry, though, and it's a typically feminine one. She's concerned about entering hotel dining rooms. "I'll only have riding clothes, you see. No dresses. I'm only taking breeches and a few wash and wear shirts in one of the two saddlebags."

Jo, who came to this country from Cork, Ireland, 25 years ago, has been working closely with horses for a dozen years—at Belmont race track, as a stable manager, as a riding instructor in children's camps.

East African tribesmen drink cow's blood without killing the cow, which they value highly. The jugular vein of the cow is punctured with a sharp arrow, a draught is taken, and mud slapped on the wound which soon heals.

Five Are Seized In $63,000 Holdup

NEW YORK (AP)—Five men were seized early Friday in connection with Thursday's $63,000 holdup at a Brooklyn plant of the New York Daily News, and police reported recovery of $59,000.

Shortly after the group was taken to a stationhouse for questioning, authorities reported one had admitted taking part in the robbery. He was identified as Benjamin Briganti, 25, of Long Island City, Queens.

Police said Briganti "went for a gun" as detectives smashed through the door of his apartment shortly before 6 a.m., but was quickly subdued. Detectives said the $59,000 cash hoard was found in his apartment.

TV VIEWERS TO SEE SPACEMAN SHOT IN SPACE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever happens in a few weeks when the United States attempts to shoot the first astronaut into space, the American people will be able to watch and hear the whole event.

The four major television and radio networks are temporarily putting aside their rivalries to pool men and equipment for complete coverage—from the firing pad at Cape Canaveral to the Caribbean where it is expected the missile will drop with its human cargo.

Mobile equipment will follow the progress of the chosen astronaut into the missile. Five cameras, operated by remote control, will provide closeup shots of the firing itself.

CREWS ABOARD SHIPS

Other cameras will follow the flight of the missile as far as possible. Film crews will be aboard ships and aircraft assigned to recover man and missile. Other crews will be stationed at Grand Bahama Island where it is expected the astronaut will be taken.

Heart of the broadcasting operation will consist of two specially built trailers, each 35 feet long. They contain all the facilities for handling the products of all the mobile units, video tape reports, film and voice communications and will feed them instantly to the networks (ABC, CBS, NBC and the Mutual Broadcasting System) and to any individual stations or smaller networks that want them in exchange for a service charge.

The man-in-space shot promises to be an event of historic importance.

We Give S.&H. Green Stamps

Mr. Banks E. Benner produces about 70,000 bushels of apples and peaches annually on his El Vista Orchards, Fairfield, Pa. He uses Guthion to control all of his major fruit pests, and reports an increase in yield and quality as a result.

"Guthion protection gives our fruit superior quality, definitely increases our yield"

Says Mr. Banks E. Benner, President, El Vista Orchards, Fairfield, Pa.

"Gives such broad control that we have little need for any other chemicals"

"We started using Guthion three years ago," Mr. Benner points out. "The usual pest infestations were giving us trouble. We found that we got better and quicker control than with any other insecticide we had ever used. As far as I am concerned, I would not be without Guthion. It has solved our spraying problems."

Guthion controls worst pests

"Coddling moths, red mites, aphids and leaf rollers have always given us the most trouble," Mr. Benner explains. "In the fight against leaf rollers, we got complete control after three sprays. Guthion has also cut down the incidence of coddling moths, red mites and other pests to the extent that we are now able to keep our apple crop clean, and find little need for other insecticides."

"We find that Guthion has a long residual action and stays right on the job between sprays. This is especially important to us during the periods of heaviest pest infestation. Although Guthion costs more per pound than some of the other insecticides, we use less of it, with an overall reduction in cost, and accomplish better results than we did with the heavier use of other chemicals."

More choice pickings

"We have noticed a definite increase in our yields since we have been using Guthion," Mr. Benner says. "At the same time, there is a superior quality in the fruit. We've noticed this in the course of our picking for quality. We made three pickings for size on our Yellow Transparents last season. The choice picking was heavier, and the same was true in other varieties."

Higher profits from Guthion

Here's why Guthion means more fruit profits for you. It is the only single insecticide that controls all major fruit pests, all season long. Guthion alone equals or surpasses the control of any complicated combination of chemicals.

Guthion lasts longer, too... eliminates worry about special insect build-ups, specific spray timing, and even eliminates between cover sprays. To reduce your spray costs and get better insect control this season, use Guthion. It works!

Red Grenade Blasts U.S. Army Building In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A grenade was thrown at a U.S. Army building today in an apparent Communist attempt to demonstrate strength before Sunday's national election. A Vietnamese was killed, and nine persons, including a U.S. Army sergeant, were wounded.

M. Sgt. Carl F. Cox, 34, of Salem, Ore., suffered superficial wounds in the attack on the enlisted men's quarters of the U.S. Military Advisory Group, in the heart of the city.

It was the third terrorist grenade attack in the capital in 18 hours and the second directed at Americans.

Howard C. Thomas, 47, of Fort Myers, Fla., an employee of the U.S. Federal Aviation Agency, suffered injury to his left eye and facial wounds Friday when a grenade exploded in the garden of his home.

Thomas was flown to Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines where doctors reported today he was in excellent condition.

Three adults and a child were wounded Friday night by a grenade thrown in front of a shop in the center of the capital.

Today's attack was made at about 7:30 a.m. by a pedicab driver. He hurled the grenade as he rode by the hotel-like quarters for U.S. soldiers who train the South Viet Nam army.

Sgt. Willie R. Grubbs of Baltimore, Md., said he was waiting for a bus when he saw the taxi man throw the grenade. Grubbs said he ducked inside the building before it exploded. Another U.S. soldier nearby, M. Sgt. Jose Collazo of the Bronx, N.Y., also escaped injury.

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The captain of a Russian navy tug brought his ship to the Swedish Baltic island of Gotland Thursday night and asked customs officials for political asylum, police reported.

Three Perish In Crash And Blaze

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A car struck a tree in Pittsburgh's Highland Park section early today and burst into flames, killing three persons.

Police said they believed Raymond Houlihan, about 20, of the city's Lawrenceville section was the driver of the car. The other two men have not been identified, police said. All three bodies were badly burned.

Police said the car was owned by Paul T. Smith, 27, also of Lawrenceville. They said Smith told them he had loaned the car to Houlihan to go on a date.

Skid marks at the scene of the accident indicate the car was going at a high rate of speed at the time, police reported.

Feverish Dream Helps Balk Fire

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Tommy Wisinski, 11, woke up suddenly Friday morning right in the middle of a dream that his house was on fire.

The youngster bolted from his bed, raced up to the attic, crashed through a window, tumbled 14 feet to a porch roof, fell another 10 feet to the ground and then ran to a nearby cafe and summoned firemen.

Tommy was treated at Hamot Hospital for minor cuts and bruises and then sent home, where he is confined with influenza. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wisinski, said he went to bed Thursday night with a fever.

Maryland Beauty Seeks 2nd Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mary Leona Gage Covacevich, Maryland beauty who was 1957's Miss U.S.A. for one day, has sued her second husband for divorce.

Her complaint filed Friday, charges dancer Nicholas Covacevich, 25, with unspecified mental cruelty.

Mrs. Covacevich, now 22, won the Miss U.S.A. title at Long Beach. She was stripped of it when it was learned that, in violation of contest rules, she was married to Air Force Sgt. Gene Ennis. They were later divorced. She and Covacevich were married Nov. 17, 1958, in Las Vegas, Nev.

Portugal has overseas possessions 23 times its own size.

Buying a USED CAR?

Timely Tips That Can Help Protect Your Investment!

1. Choose your dealer carefully.
2. Buy only from a well established reputable dealer.
3. Buy only from a dealer who maintains his own adequate facilities to service the car you buy.
4. Insist on a WARRANTY in writing that can be "backed-up."
5. BUYING from a NEW CAR DEALER IS YOUR BEST BET. . . . Most new car dealers sell locally owned trade-ins, not Used Cars obtained from Auto Auctions or distress merchandise from large cities.
6. Insist on knowing where the Used Car came from. "Ask who was the previous owner." Most new car dealers will be happy to tell you and invite you to contact the previous owner.
7. New Cars bought from Used Car Dealers . . . REMEMBER, only the New Car Dealer is authorized to extend a FACTORY WARRANTY to a buyer, NO ONE ELSE.

Tony Young 'Gunslinger'

Star Of

His Father's Help And Encouragement Accounts For His Success

By ROBERT L. CLARE

THE interviewer's question hung in the air like poised six guns. "What kind of a western hero is this? A guy who pushes women around, who uses a girl as a shield, who hires out to the highest bidder, whose code is that of the predator, the opportunist?"

These are the hard deeds one will see from Cord, the "Black Vetvet" hero of the CBS-TV hour-long frontier series, "Gunslinger," Thursdays from 9 to 10 p.m.

Are they the deeds of a hero? Tony Young, the leathery new leading man picked to play Cord, took up the challenge gamely.

"He's Human"

"CORD may not be drawn according to Hoyle or Zane Grey. But you'll have to admit he's human," he said.

"Most western heroes are bloodless. Cord is a rare breed of man with whom it is difficult to identify. Nevertheless, he's a fascinating character. He has blood."

"His reputation as Gunslinger got him his job as undercover man for the Army of the Arizona Territory in 1875. His life is brutal, shot with suspicion and hostility. The low-slung gunbelt and quick eyes mark him as a gunslinger and death usually follows him. Well, under these conditions, you can hardly expect him to entertain at tea every afternoon at 4. In his own cold, calculating way he was a hero, doing the jobs and saving the lives for the cavalry. If it required ruthlessness to do it, it was no more than life setting the pace."

His Own Enemy

THEN Tony popped a question of his own and promptly answered it.

"How do you put a price on this kind of hero? He was his own worst enemy. Want to know something? So was I at one time," he added.

Tony Young in "Gunslinger"

For Tony Young, "Gunslinger" is the first starring vehicle. But it was almost preordained. He is the eldest son of veteran actor Carlton G. Young. Theater was the boy's playground and mime was his sport.

"I made mistakes," continues Tony. "For example, I didn't take advantage of the educational opportunities I had. I was my own worst enemy."

Young was born in New York City. He went to California in 1943 when his father got the call to star in a film for Fox Studios.

Joins Air Force

IN 1956, after a whirl at the theater arts in Los Angeles City College, Tony joined the Air Force. He has passed up formal education but he was in the business of writing, producing and directing shows for Armed Forces Radio Service.

Until "Gunslinger" Tony's career has consisted chiefly of three minor movie roles and about a dozen jobs as a western badman.

"For some reason, casting directors had classified my face in the 'real mean' category," he said.

Behind the face, however, is a still-boyish kid who attributes whatever he is or might be to his father.

"HE gave me the realization as an actor I had responsibility to the public and a responsibility to the crew. This meant knowing my lines, getting the job done to the best of my ability and always maintaining a good relationship on the set.

"There has been no involvement with so-called method. My method is my own. If I believe what I am doing, the audience will believe me. That's my only method."

In the character Cord, Tony believes he has found a personality akin to his own.

"We both had it rough, with one exception. I had a wonderful father," said Tony. "My dad's influence has been important to me and he's been a great help in coaching me in my acting."

Two Unknowns

LIKE Tony there are two other young actors on "Gunslinger" who are virtually unknown to regular home screen scanners. Charles Gray, in his 20's, plays the role of Pico Maguire, an Irish Mexican, who is Young's loyal sidekick. Dee Pollack, just 23, portrays Billy Urchin, another of Young's outriders.

As background for this "Gunslinger" trio is one of the most massive sets ever constructed for a television series. According to Producer Charles Marquis Warren, the structure, Fort Scott, cost approximately $100,000 and it covers an area over several acres wide. It is authentic in every
